The Doorway to Shabbat

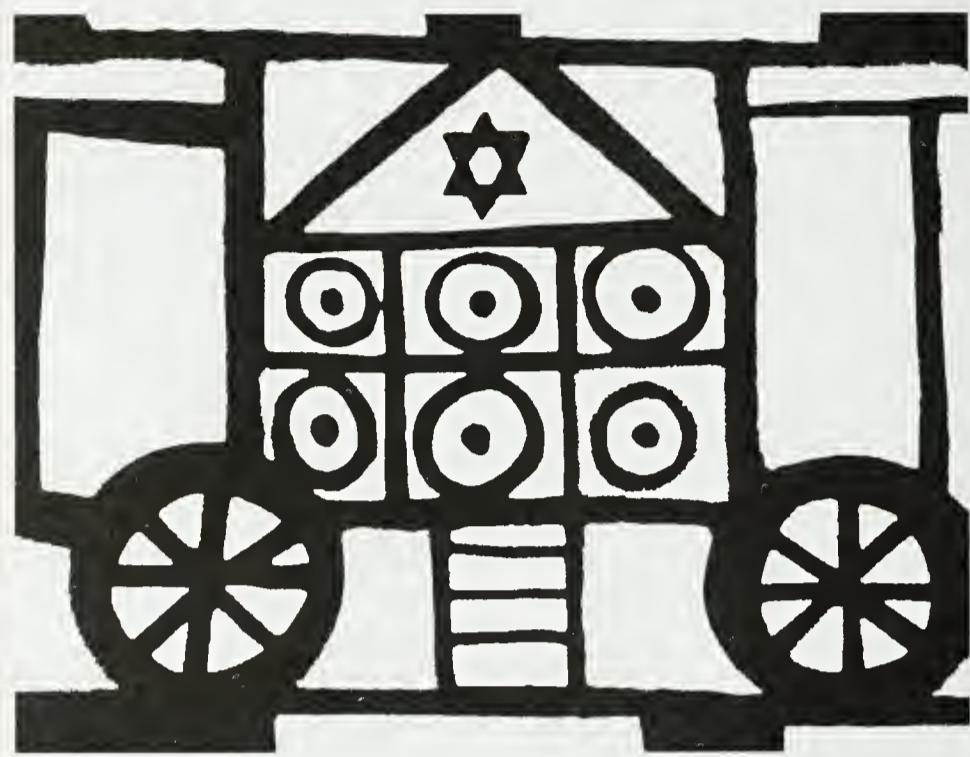

FRIDAY NIGHT SERVICES OFFER much-needed relief from the stress of the week gone by. Whether it is sixteenth century Tzfat or twenty-first century New York City, the prayers and melodies of Kabbalat Shabbat provide a soothing punctuation mark to the frenetic pace we keep throughout the week. Welcoming Shabbat in community, we connect to others, to the traditions of our people, and to our God. As the doorway to Shabbat, Kabbalat Shabbat reminds us of the spiritual possibilities embedded within each of us.

It takes a lot of work to create this restful mood. Not just the rabbi's words or the cantor's music, but every individual's participation is a key contribution. How we greet each other, how we welcome the stranger – a million small choices determine the ambience. Each one of us decides whether to slide further into the pew to let a newcomer find a place. Not all of us may be blessed with Cantor Schwartz's voice, but Cantor Schwartz counts on all of us to sing with him melodies both traditional and new.

In this second year of Cantor Schwartz's tenure, we are taking a close and creative look at Kabbalat Shabbat. Our goal is simple. We aspire to create a prayer experience that will raise the spirits of our congregational families each and every week. Children, parents, grandparents, and everyone in between – sitting side by side – welcoming Shabbat. Toward this end, it is a great pleasure to welcome Colin Fowler to our musical team. A graduate of the Interlochen Arts Academy and The Juilliard School, Colin has performed and recorded throughout the world with numerous Jewish and non-Jewish soloists and ensembles. Together with Cantors Schwartz and Kidron, we look forward to charting out new territory. I invite you to be part of the process and to support our spirit of experimentation.

One last thing. When I sat down to imagine the perfect Kabbalat Shabbat service, nobody was wearing a tie. In other words, starting now – come as you are! I assure you, wearing a jacket or tie will have no bearing on whether or not your prayers are received. Certainly at the end of a hard work week, each of us and certainly our God, has better things to worry about.

The evolution of our congregation's music cannot happen without your partnership.

Renewing Our Musical Mission

THE MUSIC OF PARK AVENUE SYNAGOGUE

is flourishing as we experiment with different models of worship and music. We are committed to preserving our precious musical tradition and to maintaining Park Avenue's role as a major influence in American Jewish music. One aspect of that role is that we are at the forefront of development and innovation in Jewish liturgical music. The Park Avenue Synagogue Music Center regards tradition as living and dynamic. We have the unique opportunity of developing liturgical music in its natural setting – the synagogue – yet constantly working in partnership with our wider community.

Rabbi Cosgrove, the ritual committee and I are working closely to generate discussions about the experience of prayer at our synagogue. Everything is on the table: liturgy, location, length of services, prayer books, style and appeal to all ages. We have already introduced musical accompaniment at Kabbalat

Shabbat services every week, featuring a variety of instrumental ensembles and utilizing new sound systems. We are bringing back both old, long-forgotten melodies and contemporary compositions commissioned recently by our synagogue. We are confident that both the older music and the new will bring meaning to our prayers and will become part of the canon of Jewish music in the new millennium.

On the High Holy Days we were honored to welcome our gifted new organist and pianist Colin Fowler, who joined the synagogue's music staff in July. We are grateful to have Colin accompanying all of our Shabbat and holiday services.

We have an exciting line-up of guest artists who will share their knowledge and talents in our discussions, services and concerts this year. To name a few: Cantor Angela Buchdahl (Central Synagogue, NYC), Cantor Gideon Zelermeyer (Shaar Hashamayim, Montreal), Cantor Natasha Hirschhorn (Ansche Chesed, NYC), Cantor Chaim David Berson (Manhattan Jewish Center, NYC), Cantor Josh Breitzer (Congregation Beth Elohim, NYC), Joey Weisenberg (Kane Street Synagogue, NYC) and Robert J. Elias (President of the OREL Foundation).

Last summer Cantor Kidron and I recorded two new albums. Ahavat Olam: Jewish Romantic Music was published in September; I hope you are enjoying it! Ki Eshmerah Shabbat: A Musical Shabbat Morning Prayer Book For Children will be released in December. We are working vigorously with our music educators to create a coherent vision of prayer and an integrated music curriculum from the toddler programs and the ECC through the Congregational School, the Bnei Mitzvah program and the High School through to adult programming.

The evolution of our congregation's music cannot happen without your partnership. I hope you will participate regularly in prayer services and attend our music programs. Then tell me what you like and what you don't! Let me know, too, if you would like to join a music committee.

May our new songs open our hearts and connect us to our roots and to the future.

EVAN FROMMER

October 6 | Shabbat Hol HaMoed Sukkot

Son of Daniel & Jackie Frommer

Grandson of Herbert & Eleanor Frommer

Evan is thrilled to celebrate his Bar Mitzvah at Park Avenue Synagogue with friends and family. He is excited that his Bar Mitzvah is on Sukkot, a holiday that embodies his love of nature and his thoughtful spirit.

Evan began his Jewish education at the ECC and is currently a student at the Congregational School. His grandparents Eleanor and Herbert Frommer joined PAS almost 50 years ago, and his father Daniel also attended both the ECC and the Congregational School.

A 7th grader at Horace Mann School, Evan enjoys history and French. He is also an outdoor enthusiast. As a member of the Mohawk Ski Race team, Evan was selected to compete in the tri-states competition this past season. Evan is known for his thirst for adventure and his determination to accomplish any challenge. Last summer, Evan skied Mt Hood's glacier and hiked Mt. Washington, the highest peak in the Northeast. Evan attends Camp Walt Whitman, where he combines outdoorsmanship with more traditional sports including soccer, tennis, track and swimming.

Evan and his family thank the entire clergy and staff for their support and guidance. Evan especially thanks his tutors, Ariela Wallace and Zach Spiegel, who helped him prepare for this important milestone.

RILEY MORGAN

October 13 | Parashat B'reishit

Son of Donald & Israela Morgan

A 7th grader at Columbia Grammar and Prep School, Riley has been a student in the Congregational School since age five. His eclectic mix of hobbies includes AG travel soccer, skiing, mountain biking, camping, electric guitar, programming, robotics and running his own server.

During one of many trips to Israel, Riley was involved in Leket, harvesting surplus vegetables and distributing food to the homeless in Tel Aviv. He has also participated in several Midnight Runs distributing clothing and food to the homeless in NYC. For his Bar Mitzvah, Riley will be sponsoring Right to Play, an organization that uses the transformative power of play to educate and empower children facing adversity in the Middle East and throughout the world.

A gentle, caring soul, Riley is the first great-grandson of Sarah and Shalom Levy and a caring older brother to Wyatt and Theo. Our family feels blessed to celebrate his Bar Mitzvah at PAS. We are proud of who he is and of his hard work. We applaud him for his success.

Riley thanks his family, the clergy and his tutors for their help in this endeavor and in shaping his identity and values. Special thanks to Rabbi Zuckerman, Ronit Aranoff and Phyllis Spiro for their time and support.

October 20 | Parashat Noah

Son of Michael & Jill Toporek

Alex has attended Park Avenue Synagogue since kindergarten. He follows his two sisters, Amanda and Eden, who both attended and became Bat Mitzvah at PAS.

A 7th grader at the Birch Wathen Lenox School, Alex especially excels in math.

In his Political Union honor course he enjoys thinking about international issues and domestic politics, particularly the art of debating the issues.

Best known as a baseball player and enthusiast, Alex plays travel and recreational league, excelling in hitting and most infield positions. He also loves camp and has attended Takajo in Maine for the last four summers.

Alex is participating in the UJA Give a Mitzvah—Do a Mitzvah program. He tutored 2nd graders in math last spring and will contribute from his bar mitzvah gifts to support much needed additional afterschool math tutoring programs. He will also sponsor umpiring courses and materials for students at the Business of Sports School (BOSS). He is inspired by how the school keeps kids in high school by having them relate their studies to careers in sports-related fields.

Alex is a thoughtful, fun, caring, and smart brother, friend and son. He and his family would like to thank his tutors, the clergy, the Congregational School and especially Zalman Rothschild for working with him and preparing him for the Bar Mitzvah service.

SIMHAT TORAH HONOREES 5773

PAS Salutes Mark Fraier, Hatan Torah

Mark Fraier

SHAMMAI TAUGHT, “Greet every person with a friendly face.” (Pirkei Avot 1:15). Our Ritual Director Mark

Fraier lives according to that instruction.

To Mark, there is nothing more interesting in life than working with people of all ages. That was what fascinated him in the classroom as a science teacher in the New York City Department of Education for 35 years. That was what engaged him at Cejwin Camps, one of the foremost Jewish cultural camps in America, where he was first a camper, then a counselor, and eventually Executive Director for many years. He also served on the Board of Directors of the Association of Jewish Camps, an adjunct of UJA Federation. Mark estimates that while serving in these positions he touched the lives of over 20,000 people. Hundreds of those individuals are now his Facebook friends, whom he hears from regularly.

Since Mark came to Park Avenue

Synagogue as Ritual Director in 2003, he has been continuing to forge connections with people. He has helped hundreds of synagogue members at baby namings, bnei mitzvah, aufrufs, and weddings, as well as hundreds more who have come to the bimah for an aliyah on a birthday, anniversary or a yahrzeit. His greatest joy is bringing people to the bimah at significant moments and helping them to have a physically, mentally and emotionally meaningful Jewish experience. Like his former campers, congregants keep in touch. Nothing brings Mark greater pleasure than seeing a couple whose wedding he helped to facilitate return to the bimah for a baby naming or being on hand when a mom and dad who he remembers bringing their infant to the synagogue take an aliyah as parents of the Bar Mitzvah.

Mark grew up in Sunnyside, Queens, and attended the Sunnyside Jewish Center, a Conservative congregation. He earned a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration From Baruch College and also did post graduate studies there. As a child, Mark attended the multi-denominational Cejwin Camps, which was in many ways a forerunner of the movement-affiliated Jewish camps of today. At 15, he was on the stage crew of the camp show and was captivated by the 14-year-old lead singer and dancer. By the next summer, he and Sarita had become a camp couple. They've now been married for 43 years and are proud parents and devoted grandparents.

Mark is grateful to share significant moments in the lives of families. The Park Avenue Synagogue community is honored and grateful that in helping to shape those moments, he stays connected to all of us.

PAS Salutes Nadine Habousha Cohen, Kallat B'reishit

Nadine Habousha Cohen

WE LEARN from the Talmud that in matters of tzedakah, one must first care for one's family, then for one's immediate community and then for people in far-away communities. (Baba Metzia 71a) In the spirit of this rabbinic principle, Nadine Habousha's involvement with the Jewish community has grown from her immediate family, to the Park Avenue Synagogue, and ultimately, through her professional work, to the worldwide Jewish community.

Nadine Habousha was born in Cairo, Egypt and grew up speaking both French and Arabic. She immigrated to the U.S. with her family in 1960, but can still be heard counting in French and speaking French with her family. The Habousha family settled in Far Rockaway and then moved to Forest Hills. Nadine graduated from Brooklyn College and earned master's degrees in Psychology and Public Administration from New York University. She began her career at Arthur Andersen & Company, where she became the first woman Principal.

Nadine met her husband, Ed, jogging along the East River. He was from the Upper West Side, a 4th-generation American; she had been raised Orthodox; he, Reform. They were married at PAS, and as they began to create a home together, the synagogue became their second home, where they found they could both be comfortable.

Their sons Reuben and Daniel attended the ECC and the Congregational School and graduated from the High School. Each one celebrated his Bar Mitzvah on the Park Avenue Synagogue bimah. Nadine served as chair of the ECC Parents' Association and later, on the board of the Congregational School. She is proud of having inaugurated the annual Shabbat HaKavod honoring Congregational School learners for their achievements.

Nadine shifted the focus of her career in 2000 when a trusted friend introduced her to the critical work of what he considered to be one of the best-run organizations – the Joint Distribution Committee. As its Director of Board Relations, Nadine continues to express her passion for engaging others in meeting global Jewish needs and revitalizing Jewish life worldwide.

Meanwhile, she has continued to be active at Park Avenue Synagogue. Nadine is a member of the PAS Board and served on the search committees for Assistant Rabbi, Assistant Cantor and Director of Synagogue Programming. She has also served on the Shabbaton Committee for several years and on the planning committees for cantorial concerts.

Nadine treasures being part of Park Avenue Synagogue because she likes belonging to a vibrant, multi-faceted community that provides programming and activities for people of every age. She knows that just as she will continue to bring her energy and strength to serve the community, the community will continue to meet her needs for inspiration, education and fellowship.

The Observant Life: A Discussion of the Art of Being Jewish

Tuesday | October 16 | 7:00 pm

The Observant Life: The Wisdom of Conservative Judaism for Contemporary Jews is a compendium of essays by more than 30 prominent Conservative rabbis in leading roles in the contemporary Jewish community. Newly published by the Rabbinical Assembly, the book provides realistic, pragmatic and valuable insights into the guidance of Jewish tradition for the challenges of daily living in the 21st century.

The Rabbinical Assembly, together with The Jewish Week and Park Avenue Synagogue as host, invites you for an evening of thoughtful discussion with a distinguished panel made up of many of the book's authors, moderated by Gary Rosenblatt, editor and publisher of The Jewish Week.

The panel will be followed by interactive, roundtable discussions, during which attendees will join groups led by authors of many of the book's chapters. Our own Rabbi David Lincoln, who wrote a chapter on repentance, will lead one of these groups.

Books will be available for purchase, and authors on hand will sign them at a reception following the event.

See p.11 and p.13 for related classes taking place at PAS this month.
